Hey Yo! Pesto

- We were told to wear yellow for reasons unclear at the time.
- It turned out to be some weird RA-worship fetish of Paully's.
- We were promised a sumptuous feast at the On-In and even got to vote on the menu.
- All we got was Pesto and a Donkey's Ass.

The hash started and ended at HYP's country estate, aka Garden Plot #24 of the Lawrenceville Community Gardens located on Route 206. Some wise heads got to the golf course then seeing the nature of the trail bagged it and tried to pre-empt the hash by going right to StoneRise. Wise move but turned out to be wrong as the chalk tells the tale.

Wiser heads biked in an hour late, ran for a token few minutes then proceeded to the on-in for beer and pesto. Dumb heads ran the whole thing, painful as it was. Festivities included Wiffle ball and Pin the Tail on the Donkey. It gets no better than this.

Directions:

Current PHHH mismanagement has decided to participate in the NYC NASS Hash posted below instead of suffering another Delicate set. The hare set last year in Trenton and a number of PHHHers showed up.

Hi,

Yes we definitely have a run planned on Sunday June 29th at 3 p.m from the train station.

It's part of a travelling New York City Hash - New Amsterdam Summer Sunday (NASS). The same event we did last year. Yes, please feel free to pass on to PHHH, didn't mean to impinge on their territory I've just been exercising my normal Hash mis-manangement! Hope to see you there too.

David "The Body".

webmaster note: The train from NYC arrives at 3:24PM, in the unlikely event that it's on time. Details at www.hashnyc.com
